Welcome to Grambling State University

June 7, 2009 (Grambling) — A bullock of excited young people arrived on the campus of Grambling State University bright and early Sunday morning to participate in a week-long Explorers Camp. The Explorers Camp is sponsored by LA GEAR UP—an initiative established by the State of Louisiana Department of Education to expose young people to the forensic sciences.

The unique overarching goals of the Explorers Camp, also known as CSI: Grambling are: (1) to enrich math and science skills through creative and fun activities; and (2) to enhance test mastery skills and self esteem. The campers were also involved in diverse leadership and recreational activities. The key academic and enrichment activities included explorations/classes that focused on forensic investigations. The Bonat Laboratory Kits served as a basis for each of the four forensic explorations. The four explorations were: (1) Sheddar Bones: Identification of Skeletal Remains, (2) Theta Technologies Crime Scene II, (3) Terror from Paradise, and (4) Mystery of the Bloody Stain.
