LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Family and Friends of Grambling State University:

Since beginning my tenure as the eighth President of this world-renowned university, the primary focus of my administration has been to launch a new beginning by building on past successes and strengths of Grambling State University. The doors to the Colored Industrial and Agricultural School, now known as Grambling State University, opened on November 1, 1901 under the leadership of Charles P. Adams. During the entire year of 2011, we are celebrating 110 years of “Tradition, Service and Excellence” at the university.

Early in my administration, ten university priorities were identified and the University’s Five-Year Strategic Plan was developed with goals and strategies designed to meet global challenges and threats; and to capitalize on strengths and opportunities. The Strategic Plan serves as the blueprint for success and will guide the university into the future.

During the 2010-11 academic year, the university faced the challenge of implementing selective admissions criteria after having operated as an open admissions institution throughout its existence. In an effort to stabilize enrollment, we entered into partnerships and articulation and transfer agreements with neighboring community colleges. Also, we placed more attention on retaining our current students which proved to be very successful; our fall-to-fall retention rate increased 9% over the previous year.

State funding in support of the university’s operations has consistently declined during the past three years. As a result, the university reorganized by streamlining academic program offerings and administrative divisions. We increased alumni giving by 24% and endowment assets by 191%. The university also had an unprecedented nine structures to be added to the National Register of Historic Buildings during 2010-11.

Inside this document you will find additional details regarding these and other successes at Grambling State University during 2010-11. These accomplishments are just the beginning to creating “Pathways to Greater Success” for the citizens of Louisiana, the region and the nation.

Your continued support and generosity is truly appreciated.

ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

The Division of Academic Affairs implemented strategic initiatives during academic year 2010-11 that resulted in demonstrated efficiencies at the University by reviewing degree program’s curricula to ensure a complete educational experience for each graduating student, realigning and/or deleting low completer programs, and maintaining professional accreditation standards. Additionally, the division enhanced articulation agreements with community colleges and strengthened the University’s transfer policy.

Partnerships and Articulation & Transfer agreements with Bossier Parish, Delta, and Southern University-Shreveport Community Colleges were established in academic year 2010-11. Partnering with community colleges helps to ensure students’ seamless transfer into Grambling State University.

Implementation of the university’s revised transfer policy in the 2010-2011 academic year resulted in a one-year increase of 52.4% in the number of students transferring into the university.

Grambling’s partnership with the Bossier Parish Community College (BPCC) is most unique as BPCC has a presence directly on the GSU campus. BPCC@GSU allows the community college students to live in GSU housing and to have access to most amenities available to GSU students while completing the necessary requirements to transfer into the university.

1936 Ralph W.E. Jones became second President.

1940 Four-year program inaugurated.

1944 First Bachelor of Science Degree in Elementary Education granted.

THE BUILDING YEARS
1936 - 1977

2010-2011 Reaffirmations and Accreditations

Degree Program	Professional Accrediting Agency
College of Business Accreditation Reaffirmed	AACSB-Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business
College of Education Accreditation Reaffirmed	NCATE– National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education
Engineering Technology Accreditation Reaffirmed	ABET-Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology
Mass Communication-UG Accreditation Reaffirmed	ACEJMC-Accrediting Council for Education in Journalism & Mass Communication
Leisure Studies Accreditation Reaffirmed	NRPA-National Recreation and Park Association
Pediatric Nurse Practitioner Initial Accreditation	NLNAC-National League for Nursing Accrediting Commission

Thirty-three of the 50 academic degree programs are eligible for accreditation by professional accrediting agencies.

In 2010-11, 100% of all eligible programs were accredited.

A review and revision of academic programs’ curricula resulted in 73% of all degree programs requiring no more than 120 credit hours for completion. The restructuring of programs’ curricula enhances the efficiency of the University by reducing students’ time-to-degree and ensuring that all courses relevant for success in the program are completed.

Academic programs were redesigned or enhanced to address low completion issues in an effort to protect program offerings, and maintaining the vision of the University. The review resulted in degree programs being consolidated, combined, or deleted to capitalize on strengths and accountability demands. The University currently offers 50 degree programs at the following levels: 1 Associate, 32 Bachelors, 13 Masters, 3 Post Masters’ Certificates (PMC), and 1 Doctoral.

1946 Name changed to Grambling College of Louisiana.

1949 Grambling College accredited by the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools

1958 College obtained full membership in Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS)

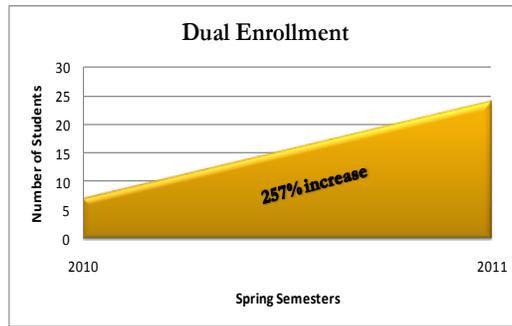

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

ENROLLMENT MANAGEMENT

In summer 2010, the Division of Enrollment Management and Retention was established. The priority of the division is to ensure the continued progression of students from entry through graduation. Successful strategic initiatives were implemented to increase partnerships with regional high schools; to strengthen peer tutoring and mentoring programs thereby increasing retention and graduation rates; and to institute a Male Initiative Program (MIP) dedicated specifically to the enrichment, retention and graduation of male students enrolled at the University.

Dual enrollment is defined as students enrolling in classes at the University while still in high school.

Dual enrollment at GSU increased 257% in spring 2011 over spring 2010.

Enrollment in the School of Graduate Studies increased 27% in fall 2010 over the fall 2009. In fall 2010, the university enrolled 594 graduate students, up from 468 in 2009. The 2010 total enrollment included 195 new graduate students, compared to 94 in fall 2009; and 9 transfer students compared to 4 in 2009. Growth in graduate school enrollment is attributed to:

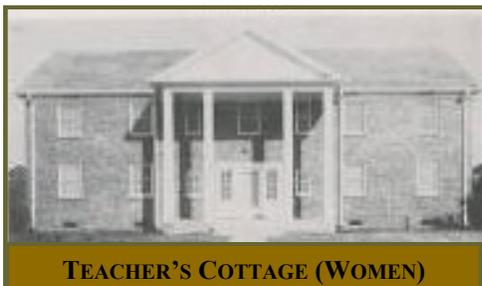

- a. A refocused recruitment plan emphasizing on-campus recruitment
- b. Efforts to recruit from baccalaureate institutions in TX, MS, & AR
- c. Graduate school information provided at seminars sponsored by the Student Government Association (SGA) for sophomore & junior classes
- d. Graduate school participation in Career Fairs on campus.

1962 NCATE Accreditation (National Council of Accreditation for Teacher Education) attained

1974 Name changed to Grambling State University; Graduate School inaugurated

1976 University reorganized into College of Business and Applied Programs, College of Education, and College of Arts & Sciences

TEACHER'S COTTAGE (WOMEN)

Grambling State University enrolls students from around the globe. Student enrollment in academic year 2010-11 represents 42 domestic states and 37 foreign countries.

Global diversity among the student body is ensured by integrating the different cultures of international students with the various cultures of domestic students. In fall 2010, the number of new international undergraduate students enrolled at the University increased 38% over the previous year.

During academic year 2010-11, GSU sponsored activities that included 154 high schools - 81 in Louisiana and 73 in other states.

1977 Name changed to Grambling College of Louisiana; Dr. Joseph B. Johnson became third president of Grambling State University

1980 Accreditation by the Commission on Colleges, Southern Association of Colleges and Schools reaffirmed; GSU Hall of Fame initiated

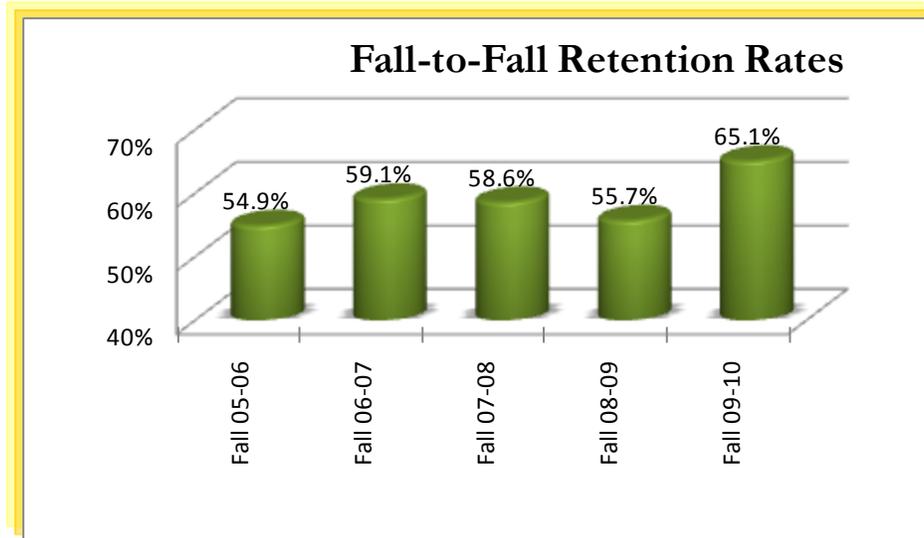

Joseph B. Johnson

THE ENHANCING YEARS
1977-1991

ENROLLMENT MANAGEMENT

First-to-second year retention rates at the University increased 9.4% in fall 2010 over the previous fall semester.

Fall 2010 marked the first time the University's retention rate exceeded 60% since fall 2004.

The significant increase is attributed to strategic initiatives implemented to aggressively recruit-back students who may have otherwise decided not to return to the University to continue their education.

“Improve Student Success Rates”

1982 Coach Eddie Robinson wins his 300th victory against Florida A&M University

1983 Phase I of Alma J. Brown Elementary School completed; Grambling State University's $9-million football stadium completed and named Robinson Stadium

ALMA J. BROWN

During academic year 2010-11, GSU the Male Initiative Program (MIP) was instituted at the University. The MIP provides a support system for male undergraduate students to ensure a successful college experience.

During the initial stages of the MIP, first-time freshman male students returning from fall-to-spring semesters increased 2%; the number ending the term in “good academic standing” increased 6 points; and their average term GPA increased to 2.70 from 2.56 in spring 2011 over spring 2010.

Comparison of First-time Freshman Male Students

One measure of success is that 100% of student athletes transferring into the University in fall 2010 ended the semester in “Good Academic Standing,” compared to 85% in fall 2009.

1984 Grambling State University’s Television Studio commences regular broadcasts on local cable station

1985 A History of Grambling State University, written by Dr. Mildred Gallot published; Coach Eddie Robinson became the ‘winningest’ collegiate coach with 324 victories, at the Dallas Cotton Bowl

FUNDRAISING & FRIEND RAISING

Several steps were taken during academic year 2010-11 to bridge the communication gap among university supporters, and to enhance the relationship the University has with the public.

1. The Black and Gold Foundation was renamed the Grambling University Foundation. The primary reason for the change was to dispel negative views many alumni chapters associated with the previous name.
2. The Community as a Neighbor Advisory Group was established and is composed of local ministers, local business persons, and distinguished alumni. This group serves in an advisory capacity to the University President.
3. Several meetings were held between the University President the Editorial Boards of local newspapers. These meeting have resulted in the establishment of relationships that foster unbiased public relations and promote the accomplishments at the University.
4. The Department of Athletics cultivated relationships with alumni members through the use of the Alumni Caravans in LA, TX, AL, & GA.

Jonesboro, LA

Atlanta, GA

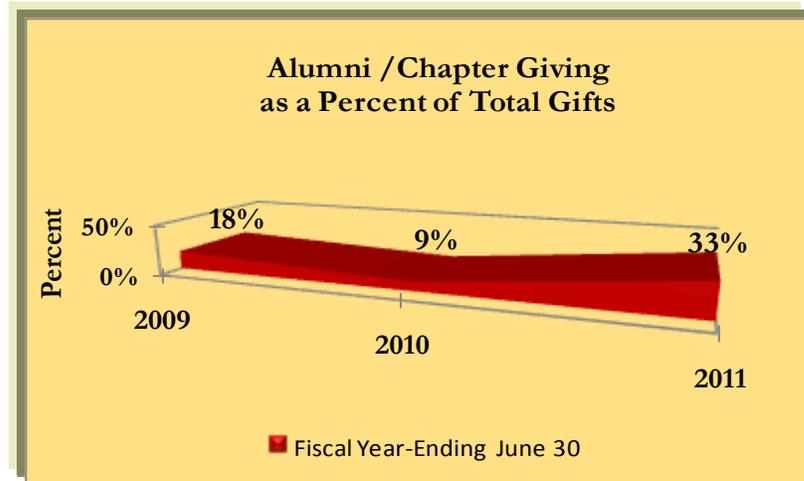

1987 On-line registration process implemented

1988 A University-wide comprehensive five-year planning process implemented

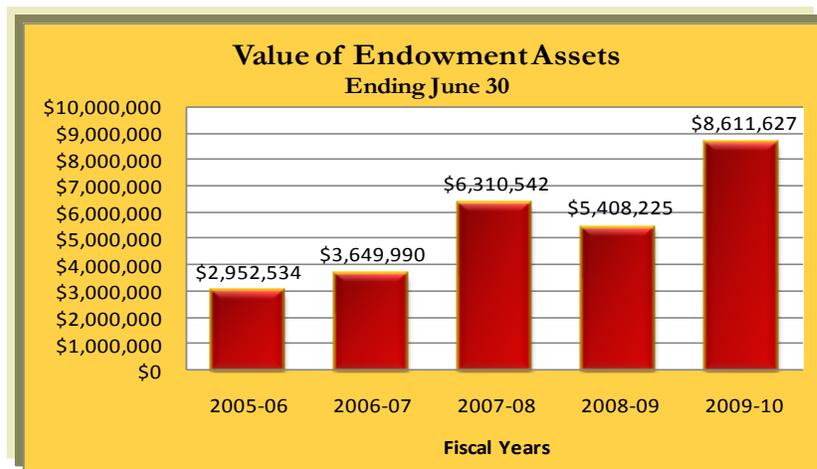

1990 Dedication of KGRM 50,000-Watt Tower and The Gramblinite state-of-the-art equipment laboratory

Annual alumni giving, as a percent of total donations received, increased 24 percentage points in FY11 over FY10. The increase in alumni giving is attributed to steps taken to bridge the communication gap between alumni and University administrators, and aggressive efforts made by Advancement staff to solicit support from alums and chapters. The number of individual alumni making donations increased 78 percent.

The market value of endowment assets at the University increased 191 percent between 2005-06 and 2009-10. Revised policies and procedures that promote strong fiduciary behavior have been implemented. The significant increase in the University’s endowment assets speaks to the prudent care provided by the asset management staff.

1991 Dr. Harold W. Lundy became the fourth president of Grambling State University; major restructuring of organizational set-up were initiated and implemented

CAMPUS FACILITIES

In 2010 Grambling State University opened the doors to a $10.2 million Performing Arts Center. The building covers 62,089 square feet and houses the Departments of Music and Visual and Performing Arts. The building is equipped with a 242 seat theatre, 200 seat recital room, band room, computer lab, faculty and staff offices, and many other rooms pertinent to the success of music and visual and performing arts majors.

The building was dedicated to the late Conrad Hutchinson, Jr. Mr. Hutchinson directed the University Marching Band for 37 years.

Additionally, the theatre within the building is named for the late Floyd L. Sandle. Black Educational Theatre was pioneered by Mr. Sandle during his 40 years of service at Grambling.

1995 Dr. Raymond A. Hicks became the fifth president of Grambling State University by a unanimous vote of the Board of Trustees for State Colleges and Universities. Coach Eddie Robinson won his 400th victory (first ever for a collegiate football coach) against Mississippi Valley State University

THE JOURNEY CONTINUES
1995 - 1997

Throughout academic year 2010-11, renovations and upgrades to campus facilities were on-going, and are continuous. The most significant project completed during the year is the state-funded Utility Infrastructure Project, which provides upgrades to the campus electrical, storm drainage, sewer, and water systems. These enhancements reduce power outages, enable the system to handle water demands, and improve overall campus safety.

The following buildings received heating and air conditioning improvements at a total cost of $1,989,902:

- ◆ T.H. Harris Auditorium received a chiller and cooling tower, and complete air handler upgrades— cost-$865,122;
- ◆ Brown Hall had fan coil units in all classrooms and offices replaced; and HVAC temperature controls were upgraded and replaced—cost-$490,000;
- ◆ School of Nursing received a replacement of pneumatically controlled HVAC units with electrically controlled units in all classrooms and offices— cost-$419,780;
- ◆ Jacob T. Stewart received repairs and replacements to pumps, blower motors, variable frequency drives and actuators; and a cooling tower and one chiller were replaced— cost-$215,000.

Other renovations on campus, designed to improve the aesthetic appeal and safety of buildings, included exterior panel and roof and door replacements in Woodson Hall, Carver Hall, T.H. Harris, and Jacob T. Stewart.

In 2010-11, Grambling State University had nine structures added to the National Register of Historic Buildings. The buildings, erected between 1939 and 1960 have met the individual and collective eligibility criteria of the National Registry.

1995 Louisiana Education Consortium, which includes Grambling State University, Louisiana Tech University and Northeast Louisiana University, established a second doctoral program to include offerings in Educational Leadership and in Curriculum and Instruction

“Increase the visibility of accomplishments”

MARKETING AND PUBLIC RELATIONS

Strategies were implemented to capitalize on advertising campaigns used to highlight admissions and advancement events. The University matched per dollar cost for television advertising in the Greater Shreveport area and received pro bono print advertising placement in California, Mississippi, and Louisiana. Additionally, billboards were purchased along the I-20 corridor. This media operates as a third-party endorsement of achievements made at the University, and supports recruitment and retention efforts.

The University's Lyceum Program was reinstated in 2010-11. Throughout the year, five programs were provided to increase the cultural and academic development of freshman students. This year's program featured:

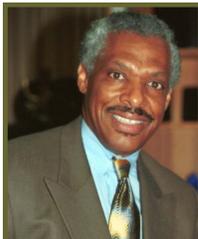

Fox Rich
Dallas Black Dance Theatre
Sil Lai Abrams
Eric Michael Dyson
E. Faye Williams

The average attendance at each program was 500 people that included students, faculty, staff, and community constituents.

The Grambling State University student newspaper, The Gramblinite, won 27 awards at various regional and national competitions. Sponsors of some of the contests included: The Southeast Journalism Conference, The Society of Professional Journalists, The Black College Communication Association, and The Louisiana Press Association.

1997 Dr. Leonard L. Haynes, III was appointed Interim President of Grambling State University; First University Economic Impact Study completed.

1998 The Grambling State University website was created (www.gram.edu) by alumni Donzell and Karen Jackson of Washington, D.C.

“Develop an effective outreach and engagement strategy for alumni, students, faculty and staff”

The Grambling State University Swanson Mentoring Program was instituted in fall 2010. Initiated by Criminal Justice faculty, this innovative mentoring program focuses on the incarcerated. This one-of-a-kind program in Louisiana aims to help young imprisoned men prepare to reintegrate into the community upon release.

Academic departments were innovative in developing successful outreach programs designed to entertain and educate children ages 7-17. During summer 2011, Grambling State University held the following on-campus camps:

- LA Gear Up
- Science and Arts Camp
- Culinary Arts Camp
- Sport, Fitness, & Nutrition Camp
- Youth Entrepreneurship Camp
- Top Katz Basketball Camp
- Band Camps

Participation in Band Camps exceeded 350 students from around the state. Many of the academic departmental camps provide two one-week sessions that lasted from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Outreach programs are designed to cultivate young minds and provide an opportunity for children to experience a university setting at a young age. Participation in the camps represented a variety of neighboring states.

In an effort to reach students early in their preparation for meeting the state’s admission criteria, Grambling State University has created an ACT Preparation Program (APP) that is located on the campus. The purpose of the program is to engage students in the standardized test-taking process early as a means of elevating ACT scores. This endeavor assists with the recruitment and retention of additional qualified students.

1998 Dr. Steve Alexander Favors named sixth President of Grambling State University.

1999 Baseball Coach Wilbert Ellis garnered 600th win; President William Jefferson Clinton served as keynote speaker for the Spring Commencement Exercises.

THE RECLAIMING YEARS
2004 - 2009

ON OUR PATHWAY TO GREATER SUCCESS...

In 2009, GSU ranked 9th in the nation in awarding degrees to African-Americans in Computer and Information Sciences, and 14th in the nation awarding degrees to African-Americans in the Physical Sciences, according to Diverse Issues in Higher Education - "Top 100 Degree Producers 2009."

GSU meets the educational needs of students from the critical poverty stricken parishes of north Louisiana by recruiting from the 11 highest poverty parishes in North Louisiana.

GSU ranks number 3 out of the 14 Louisiana public four-year universities in issuing degrees to first-time full-time freshmen.

GSU established the Center for Mathematical Achievement in Science and Technology (CMAST) in 2006 with a $4 million federal grant. The program was renewed by the Louisiana Board of Regents in 2011.

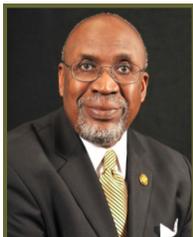

GSU has replaced 2,050 beds with privatized housing at a cost of more than $100 million.

Seventy-three percent (73%) of GSU's baccalaureate degree programs now require only 120 credit hours to be eligible for graduation.

2009 Dr. Frank G. Pogue named Interim President of Grambling State University

2010 Dr. Frank G. Pogue was appointed, by the Board of Supervisors for the University of Louisiana System, as the 8th President; Dr. Pogue instituted the 21st Century Council to develop and implement an inclusive strategic long-range planning process for the University Priorities and Planning Cycle.
