

Family Pedigree

This is your midterm project and is due on March 13, 2015. You must have four or five generations depending on if you or your siblings have children (great-grand parents, grand-parents and their siblings, parents and their siblings, you and your siblings, your children and nieces and nephews). You must have both maternal and paternal sides of the family tree. (Please see me if you have any concerns.) You must also show all genetic disorders in the family and the people that have the genetic disorders in the family.

Please have fun with this assignment. Your grandparents will enjoy talking to you about your relatives and your background. Remember it is important to know our genetic background because it is important to know what we may be passing on to our children.
